

Meet Brian

...an Easter Seals Supported Employee

Rumor has it that customers of the Royal Farms in Dagsboro don't just stop in for coffee these days. Many stop to get a warm greeting and smile from Easter Seals Supported Employment participant, Brian, who has worked there since July 2006.

"Brian loves his job and loves being a part of Easter Seals," his mom, Gerry, said at a recent Easter Seals Board of Directors meeting where she and Brian came to share their story. "He has benefited so much from Easter Seals and that means a lot to our entire family. It's great to see Brian so happy at his job."

Brian's official job responsibilities include stocking the freezer compartment at Royal Farms and taking care of the trash removal – a big job at the store. His "unofficial" job? Making the customers feel welcome when they come into the store!
